HAEMONETICS CORPORATION AND SUBSIDIARIES
NOTES TO UNAUDITED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. BASIS OF PRESENTATION

Our accompanying unaudited consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") for interim financial information and with the instructions to Form 10-Q and Article 10 of Regulation S-X. Accordingly, they do not include all of the information and footnotes required by GAAP for complete financial statements. In the opinion of our management, all adjustments (consisting of normal recurring accruals) considered necessary for a fair presentation have been included. All significant intercompany transactions have been eliminated. Operating results for the three-month period ended July 3, 2004 are not necessarily indicative of the results that may be expected for the full fiscal year ending April 2, 2005. For further information, refer to the audited consolidated financial statements and footnotes included in our annual report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended April 3, 2004.

Certain amounts in the prior year financial statements have been reclassified to conform to the fiscal year 2005 presentation.

Our fiscal year ends on the Saturday closest to the last day of March. Fiscal year 2005 includes 52 weeks with all four quarters including 13 weeks. Fiscal year 2004 included 53 weeks with the first three quarters of the fiscal year including 13 weeks and the fourth quarter of fiscal 2004 including 14 weeks.

2. EARNINGS PER SHARE ("EPS")

The following table provides a reconciliation of the numerators and denominators of the basic and diluted earnings per share computations, as required by SFAS No. 128, "Earnings Per Share." Basic EPS is computed by dividing net income by weighted average shares outstanding. Diluted EPS includes the effect of potential dilutive common shares.

3. STOCK-BASED COMPENSATION

We adopted the disclosure only provisions for employee stock-based compensation under Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 148, "Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation - Transition and Disclosure," and will continue to account for employee stock-based compensation using the intrinsic value method under Accounting Principles Board Opinion No. 25 ("APB No. 25").

At the date of grant, the exercise price of our employee stock options equals the market price of the underlying stock. Therefore, under the intrinsic value method no accounting recognition is given to options granted to employees and directors until the options are exercised. Upon exercise, net proceeds, including tax benefits realized, are credited to equity. The compensation cost for options granted to consultants is recorded at fair value in accordance with Emerging Issues Task Force "EITF" issue 96-18, "Accounting for Equity Instruments That are Issued to Other Than Employees for Acquiring, or in Conjunction with Selling, Goods or Services."

Had compensation costs under our stock-based compensation plans been determined based on the fair value model of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) 123 "Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation," the effect on our earnings per share would have been as follows:

	For the three months ended July 3, 2004	June 28, 2003

5. FOREIGN CURRENCY

We enter into forward exchange contracts to hedge the anticipated cash flows from forecasted foreign currency denominated revenues, principally Japanese Yen and Euro. The purpose of our hedging strategy is to lock in foreign exchange rates for twelve months to minimize, for this period of time, the unforeseen impact on our results of operations of fluctuations in foreign exchange rates. We also enter into forward contracts that settle within 35 days to hedge certain inter-company receivables denominated in foreign currencies. These derivative financial instruments are not used for trading purposes. The cash flows related to the gains and losses on these foreign currency hedges are classified in the consolidated statements of cash flows as part of cash flows from operating activities.

6. PRODUCT WARRANTIES

We provide a warranty on parts and labor for one year after the sale and installation of each device. We also warrant our disposable products through their use or expiration. We estimate our potential warranty expense based on our historical warranty experience, and we periodically assess the adequacy of our warranty accrual and make adjustments as necessary.

7. COMPREHENSIVE INCOME

Comprehensive income is the total of net income and all other non-owner changes in stockholders' equity. For us, all other non-owner changes are primarily foreign currency translation, the change in our net minimum pension liability and the changes in fair value of the effective portion of our outstanding cash flow hedge contracts.

Aggregate amortization expense for amortized other intangible assets was $0.5 million for both the three months ended July 3, 2004 and June 28, 2003. Additionally, expected future amortization expenses on other intangible assets approximates $1.8 million for fiscal 2005, $2.6 million for fiscal years 2006 through 2008 and $2.4 million for fiscal 2009 and fiscal 2010.

14. SEGMENT INFORMATION

Segment Definition Criteria

We manage our business on the basis of one operating segment: the design, manufacture and marketing of automated blood processing systems. Our chief operating decision-maker uses consolidated results to make operating and strategic decisions. Manufacturing processes, as well as the regulatory environment in which we operate, are largely the same for all product lines.

Product and Service Segmentation

We have two families of products: (1) those that serve the donor and (2) those that serve the patient. Under the donor product of families we have included blood bank, red cell and plasma collection products. The patient products are the surgical collection products.

Donor

The blood bank products include machines, single use disposables and solutions that perform "apheresis," (the separation of whole blood into its components and subsequent collection of certain components, including platelets and plasma), as well as the washing of red blood cells for certain procedures. In addition, the blood bank product line includes solutions used in non-apheresis applications. The main devices used for these blood component therapies are the MCS(R)+ mobile collection system and the ACP(R) 215 automated cell processing system.

Red cell products include machines and single use disposables and solutions that perform apheresis for the collection of red blood cells. Devices used for the collection of red blood cells are the MCS(R)+ 8150 mobile collection systems.

Plasma collection products are machines, disposables and solutions that perform apheresis for the separation of whole blood components and subsequent collection of plasma. The devices used in automated plasma collection are the PCS(R)2 plasma collection system and the Superlite(TM).

Patient

Surgical products include machines and single use disposables that perform surgical blood salvage in transplant, orthopedic and cardiovascular surgical applications. Surgical blood salvage is a procedure whereby shed blood is collected, cleansed and made available to be transfused back to the patient. The devices used in the surgical area are the OrthoPAT(R) and the Cell Saver(R) autologous blood recovery systems.

Other

Other revenue includes revenue generated from equipment repairs performed under preventative maintenance contracts or emergency service billings and miscellaneous sales, including revenue from our software division, Fifth Dimension, acquired on January 1, 2002. Fifth Dimension provides collection and data management systems to plasma collectors.

ITEM 2. MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Our Business

We design, manufacture and market automated systems for the collection, processing and surgical salvage of donor and patient blood, including the single-use disposables used with our systems and related data management software. Our systems allow users to collect and process only the blood component(s) they target, red blood cells, platelets or plasma, increasing donor and patient safety as well as collection efficiencies. Our systems consist of proprietary disposable sets that operate on our specialized equipment. Our data management systems are used by blood collectors to improve the safety and efficiency of blood collection logistics by eliminating previously manual functions at commercial plasma and not-for-profit blood banks. We organize our business into two global product families: donor and patient to better serve our customers and better position us for continued growth.

As a general practice we place our equipment at customers' sites, with contractual requirements that customers purchase a certain number of disposables in a predetermined time frame and, in some cases, pay a fee for the use of our equipment. This disposable revenue stream (including sales of disposables and fees for the use of our equipment) accounted for approximately 88% and 89% of our total revenues for the first quarters of fiscal 2005 and fiscal 2004, respectively.

Financial Summary

(in thousands, except per share data)	For the quarter ended		% Increase/(Decrease) Q105 vs. Q104
	July 3, 2004	June 28, 2003
Net revenues	$94,602	$88,293	7.2%
Gross Profit	47,100	39,586	19.0
% of net revenues	49.8%	44.8%
Operating income	14,962	8,186	82.8
% of net revenues	15.8%	9.3%
Provision for income tax	4,612	2,803	64.5
% of net revenues	4.9%	3.2%

% of net revenues	10.4%	5.6%
Earnings per share-diluted	$0.38	$0.21	81.0%

Net revenues for the first quarter of fiscal 2005 increased 7.2% over the same period in fiscal 2004. The favorable effects of foreign exchange contributed 6.3% to the increase. The remaining 0.9% increase resulted from increases in disposable revenue across our blood bank, surgical, and red cell product lines, and increases in equipment revenue. These increases were almost entirely offset by volume decreases in our plasma product line and in miscellaneous and service revenue. (5D revenue, reported in the miscellaneous and service revenue line, was adversely affected by the continued volatility in the plasma market).

Gross profit increased 19.0% versus Q1 fiscal 2004. The favorable effects of foreign exchange accounted for a 12.5% increase in gross profit. The remaining 6.5% increase was due to the change in the mix of products being sold, price improvements and increased sales volumes. Operating income increased 82.8% over Q1 fiscal 2004 due to gross profit improvements and a decrease in operating expenses as a percentage of total revenues. Net income increased 97.1% as compared to Q1 last year. This increase was due to two factors: (i) higher operating income, and (ii) a reduction in our quarterly effective tax rate to 32% due to a $0.6 million income tax benefit in Japan.

International Operations and the Impact of Foreign Exchange

Our principal operations are in the U.S., Europe, Japan and other parts of Asia. Our products are marketed in more than 50 countries around the world via a direct sales force as well as independent distributors.

Approximately 65% and 64% of our revenues during the first quarters of fiscal year 2005 and 2004, respectively, were generated outside the U.S. Revenues in Japan accounted for approximately 28% and 26% of total revenues for Q1 fiscal 2005 and 2004, respectively. Revenues in Europe accounted for approximately 30% of our total revenues for Q1 of fiscal 2005 and Q1 of fiscal 2004. International sales are primarily conducted in local currencies, specifically the Japanese Yen and the Euro. Accordingly, our results of operations are significantly affected by changes in the value of the Yen and the Euro relative to the U.S. dollar. The favorable effects of foreign exchange resulted in a 6.3% increase in sales.

Please see section entitled "Foreign Exchange" in this management's discussion for a more complete discussion of how foreign currency affects our business, as well as our strategy to manage this exposure.

DONOR PRODUCTS

Donor products include the Plasma, Blood Bank and Red Cell product lines. Disposable revenue for all donor products increased 4.3% compared to the first quarter of fiscal year 2004. The favorable effects of foreign exchange increased donor disposable revenue 6.4%. Without this favorable impact of foreign exchange, disposable revenue declined 2.1% from the same period in the prior year. Red cell and blood bank product revenues increases were more than offset by a decline in plasma product revenue, as more specifically detailed below.

Plasma

Disposable revenue in the plasma product line decreased 13.9%. Without the 4.1% favorable effect of foreign exchange, the decrease in plasma disposable revenues was 18.0%. The 18.0% decline is largely attributable to volume decreases in the U.S. market due to the loss of our U.S. customer, Alpha Therapeutic Corporation ("Alpha") (whose plasma collection operations were purchased by our only plasma competitor in October 2003). Disposable revenue was also affected to a lesser degree by plasma collection declines in Asia and Europe.

Blood bank

Blood bank disposable revenues increased 18.6%. The favorable effects of foreign exchange resulted in a 9.6% increase in blood bank disposable revenues as the majority of our platelet sales occur in Europe and Japan. The remaining 9.0% increase in blood bank disposable revenue was due to several factors including; (i) market share gains in Japan achieved in the fourth quarter of fiscal year 2004, which we sustained during the first quarter of fiscal year 2005 and, (ii) a product mix shift in Japan in the first quarter of fiscal year 2005 to higher-priced filtered platelet sets from non-filtered sets.

Red Cell

Red Cell disposable revenue increased 41.6%. The favorable effects of foreign exchange resulted in a 4.8% increase in red cell disposable revenues. The remaining 36.8% increase is due to the continuing adoption of our technology in the United States where blood shortages are more prevalent. In fiscal 2005 as more blood collectors continue to increase the use of our technology to increase the supply of red cells from a declining number of eligible donors, to reduce collection costs, and to improve operating quality and efficiency. Increased U.S. sales of our higher priced filtered sets, which include a filter to remove white blood cells from the collected blood, also contributed to the revenue increase.

PATIENT PRODUCTS

Surgical

Disposable revenue for the surgical product line increased 13.6%. The favorable effects of foreign exchange accounted for a 6.9% increase with the remaining 6.7% increase attributable to increases in OrthoPAT disposable revenues.

The surgical product line has two major brand platforms: the Cell Saver brand and the OrthoPAT brand.

Cell Saver disposables revenue increased 4.2% for the quarter. Without the 6.5% favorable effects of foreign exchange, Cell Saver disposable revenues declined 2.3% for the quarter. In the U.S., the Cell Saver product line is used primarily for higher blood loss surgeries. This is a mature market that is declining and may continue to decline due to improved surgical techniques minimizing blood loss. In Europe, the Cell Saver is used in both high and low blood loss surgeries, including the orthopedic market.

OrthoPAT disposable revenues increased 71% as orthopedic surgeons continue to adopt surgical blood salvage as an effective alternative to using blood from patient pre-donation or a blood bank in hip and knee replacements and other orthopedic surgeries. The favorable effects of foreign exchange accounted for a 7.5% of the increase in OrthoPAT disposable revenues.

Other Revenues (in thousands)

Our miscellaneous and service revenue includes revenue from repairs performed under preventive maintenance contracts or emergency service visits, spare part sales, various training programs and revenue from our software division, 5D.

Miscellaneous and service revenue decreased 17.8%. Without the favorable effects of foreign currency, the decrease would have been 20.8%. A 13.9% decrease in miscellaneous and service revenue was due to reduced software revenue from 5D. 5D currently sells its products primarily to plasma customers who have been negatively impacted by the recent volatility in the worldwide commercial plasma collection market.

Revenue from equipment sales increased 48.8%. The favorable effects of foreign exchange accounted for a 3.9% increase. An increase of 44.9% was due primarily to a large sale during the quarter of equipment being used by a red cell customer. Due to the variable nature of equipment sales, the level of equipment sales cannot be easily forecasted.

Gross profit increased 19.0% versus Q1 fiscal 2004. The favorable effects of foreign exchange accounted for a 12.5% increase in gross profit. The remaining 6.5% increase was due to the change in the mix of products being sold, price improvements and increased sales volumes.

Operating Expenses

Selling, general and administrative	28,084	26,403	1,681	6.4%
Total operating expenses	$32,138	$31,400	$ 738	2.4%

Research and Development

Research and Development expenses were down slightly from spending in the first quarter of the prior year due to our restructuring in the second quarter of fiscal year 2004 which lowered our head count. We anticipate an increase in R&D spending later in the fiscal year to support the R&D projects currently in our pipeline, such as the CardioPat and enhancements to the MCS multi component platform.

Selling, general and administrative

For the first quarter of fiscal 2005 selling, general and administrative expenses increased 6.4%. An increase of approximately 3.8% was due to foreign exchange. The remaining 2.6% increase was related to the increase in marketing and manufacturing expenses to support our higher level of sales.

Operating income

(in thousands)	July 3, 2004	June 28, 2003	$ Increase/ (Decrease)	% Increase/ (Decrease)
Operating Income	$14,962	$8,186	$6,776	82.8%
% of net sales	15.8%	9.3%

Operating income for the quarter increased 82.8% over the prior year. Approximately 47.2% of the increase was due to foreign exchange. The remaining 35.6% of the increase was a result of the effect of gross profit improvements, partly offset by increased selling, general and administrative expenses.

Other expense, net

(in thousands)	July 3, 2004	June 28, 2003	$ Change	% Change
Interest expense	$(661)	$(786)	$ 125	(15.9%)

Total other expense, net	$(530)	$(400)	$(130)	(32.5%)

Several factors contributed to the increase in total other expense, net: (1) a decrease in interest expense as we had lower average debt outstanding as compared to fiscal 2004, (2) an increase in interest income due to higher cash balances during the year, (3) offset by an increase in other miscellaneous expenses (such as royalty expense) over the first quarter of fiscal year 2004.

Income taxes

For the current quarter, the income tax provision, as a percentage of pretax income, was 36% before the impact of the reversal of previously established tax reserves related to a local Japanese tax matter. As a consequence of the release of reserve for $0.6 million during the current quarter, the effective tax rate was reduced to 32%. For the first quarter of fiscal 2004, the tax rate was 36%.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The following table contains certain key performance indicators we believe depict our liquidity and cash flow position:

(dollars in thousands)	July 3, 2004	April 3, 2004
Cash & cash equivalents	$130,356	$118,117
Working capital	$205,439	$185,606

Net cash (debt) position (1)	$ 74,387	$ 59,857
Days sales outstanding (DSO)	76	76
Disposables finished goods inventory turnover	5.8	5.7

(1) Net cash position is the sum of cash and cash equivalents less total debt.

Our primary sources of capital include cash and cash equivalents, internally generated cash flows and bank borrowings. We believe these sources to be sufficient to fund our requirements, which are primarily capital expenditures (including systems to improve our product life cycle management), acquisitions, new business and product development and working capital for at least the next twelve months.

(1) The balance sheet is affected by spot exchange rates used to translate local currency amounts into U.S. dollars. In comparing spot exchange rates at Q1 fiscal 2005 versus Q1 fiscal 2004, the European currencies and the Japanese Yen have weakened against the U.S. dollar. In accordance with GAAP, only the effect of foreign currency on cash is included on our cash flow statement.

Q1 FISCAL 2005 AS COMPARED TO Q1 FISCAL 2004

Operating Activities:

Net cash provided by operating activities was $9.5 million for the first quarter of fiscal 2005, an increase of $6.9 million from the same period in the prior year, due primarily to:

- o a $2.8 million increase in cash provided by net income adjusted for non-cash items,
- o $1.3 million less cash used by accounts receivable during the first quarter of fiscal 2005 due primarily to the timing of the collection of customer payments, particularly in Japan.
- o $2.4 million more cash used by inventory during the first quarter of fiscal 2005 as spending and inventory balances decreased during Q1 of fiscal 2004,
- o $3.6 million more cash used by accounts payable and accrued payroll due to the change in the timing of bonus payments.
- o a $4.5 million increase in cash due to lower tax payments,

o and $4.0 million more cash provided by accrued expenses during Q1 fiscal 2005 as compared to Q1 fiscal 2004.

Investing Activities:

Net cash from investing activities increased $3.5 million as a result of an increase in proceeds from the sale of property, plant and equipment due to a significant sale at the end of the first quarter of fiscal 2005

During the first quarter of fiscal 2005, we had capital expenditures of $3.8 million, an increase of $0.7 million over the first quarter of fiscal 2004.

Financing Activities:

Net cash provided by financing activities increased $2.4 million primarily due to an increase in proceeds from stock option exercises during the first quarter of fiscal 2005.

Inflation

We do not believe that inflation has had a significant impact on our results of operations for the periods presented. Historically, we believe we have been able to minimize the effects of inflation by improving our manufacturing and purchasing efficiencies, by increasing employee productivity and by adjusting the selling prices of new products...

Foreign Exchange

Approximately 65% of our sales are generated outside the U.S. in local currencies, yet our reporting currency is the U.S. dollar. Our primary foreign currency exposures in relation to the U.S. dollar are the Japanese Yen and the Euro. Foreign exchange risk arises because we engage in business in foreign countries in local currency. Exposure is partially mitigated by producing and sourcing product in local currency and expenses incurred by local sales offices. However, whenever the U.S. dollar strengthens relative to the other major currencies, there is an adverse affect on our results of operations and alternatively, whenever the U.S. dollar weakens relative to the other major currencies there is a positive effect on our results of operations.

It is our policy to minimize for a period of time, the unforeseen impact on our financial results of fluctuations in foreign exchange rates by using derivative financial instruments known as forward contracts to hedge the anticipated cash flows from forecasted foreign currency denominated sales. Hedging through the use of forward contracts does not eliminate the volatility of foreign exchange rates, but because we generally enter into forward contracts one year out, rates are fixed for a one-year period, thereby facilitating financial planning and resource allocation. We enter into forward contracts that mature one month prior to the anticipated timing of the forecasted foreign currency denominated sales. These contracts are designated as cash flow hedges intended to lock in the expected cash flows of forecasted foreign currency denominated sales at the available spot rate. Actual spot rate gains and losses on these contracts are recorded in sales, at the same time the underlying transactions being hedged are recorded.

We compute a composite rate index for purposes of measuring, comparatively, the change in foreign currency hedge spot rates from the hedge spot rates of the corresponding period in the prior year. The relative value of currencies in the index is weighted by sales in those currencies. The composite was set at 1.00 based upon the weighted rates at March 31, 1997. The composite rate is presented in the period corresponding to the maturity of the underlying forward contracts.

The favorable or (unfavorable) changes are in comparison to the same period of the prior year. A favorable change is presented when we will obtain relatively more U.S. dollars for each of the underlying foreign currencies than we did in the prior period. An unfavorable change is presented when we obtain relatively fewer U.S. dollars for each of the underlying foreign currencies than we did in the prior period. These indexed hedge rates impact sales, and as a result also gross profit, operating income and net income, in our financial statements. The final impact of currency fluctuations on the results of operations is dependent on the local currency amounts hedged and the actual local currency results.

These forward-looking statements, like any forward-looking statements, involve risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those projected or anticipated. Such risks and uncertainties include technological advances in the medical field and our standards for transfusion medicine and our ability to successfully implement products that incorporate such advances and standards, product demand and market acceptance of our products, regulatory uncertainties, the effect of economic and political conditions, the impact of competitive products and pricing, , foreign currency exchange rates, changes in customers' ordering patterns, the effect of industry consolidation as seen in the Plasma market, the effect of communicable diseases and the effect of uncertainties in markets outside the U.S. (including Europe and Asia) in which we operate. The foregoing list should not be construed as exhaustive.

ITEM 3. QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURES ABOUT MARKET RISK

The Company's exposures relative to market risk are due to foreign exchange risk and interest rate risk.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE RISK

See the section entitled Foreign Exchange for a discussion of how foreign currency affects our business. It is our policy to minimize for a period of time, the unforeseen impact on our financial results of fluctuations in foreign exchange rates by using derivative financial instruments known as forward contracts to hedge anticipated cash flows from forecasted foreign currency denominated sales. We do not use the financial instruments for speculative or trading activities. At July 3, 2004, we had the following significant foreign exchange contracts to hedge the anticipated cash flows from forecasted foreign currency denominated sales outstanding:

Hedged Currency	(BUY) / SELL Local Currency	Weighted Spot Contract Rate	Weighted Forward Contract Rate
Euro	6,000,000	$1.133	$1.123
Euro	8,000,000	$1.176	$1.165
Euro	8,250,000	$1.254	$1.244
Euro	7,600,000	$1.196	$1.192
Japanese Yen	1,250,000,000	120.4	per US$ 118.7
Japanese Yen	1,925,000,000	109.2	per US$ 107.8
Japanese Yen	1,725,000,000	106.9	per US$ 105.6
Japanese Yen	1,650,000,000	110.4	per US$ 108.3

Hedged Currency	Fair Value	Maturity
Euro	($553,282)	Jul-Aug 2004
Euro	($388,284)	Sep-Nov 2004
Euro	$235,957	Dec 2004-Feb 2005
Euro	($160,527)	Mar-May2005
Japanese Yen	($916,924)	Jul-Aug 2004
Japanese Yen	$144,409	Sep-Nov 2004
Japanese Yen	$371,159	Dec 2004-Feb 2005
Japanese Yen	($105,589)	Mar-May 2005
Total:	($1,373,081)

We estimate the change in the fair value of all forward contracts assuming both a 10% strengthening and weakening of the U.S. dollar relative to all other major currencies. In the event of a 10% strengthening of the U.S. dollar, the change in fair value of all forward contracts would result in a $11.3 million increase in the fair value of the forward contracts; whereas a 10% weakening of the U.S. dollar would result in a $12.7 million decrease in the fair value of the forward contracts.

Interest Rate Risk

All of our long-term debt is at fixed rates. Accordingly, a change in interest rates has an insignificant effect on our interest expense amounts. The fair value of our long-term debt, however, does change in response to interest rates movements due to its fixed rate nature. At July 3, 2004, the fair value of our long-term debt was approximately $2.4 million higher than the value of the debt reflected on our financial statements. This higher fair market is entirely related to our $17.1 million, 7.05% fixed rate senior notes and our $8.2 million, 8.41% real estate mortgage.

At June 28, 2003, the fair value of our long-term debt was approximately $3.6 million higher than the value of the debt reflected on our financial statements. This higher fair market is entirely related to our $22.9 million, 7.05% fixed rate senior notes and our $8.6 million, 8.41% real estate mortgage.

Using scenario analysis, if we changed the interest rate on all long-term maturities by 10% from the rate levels that existed at July 3, 2004 the fair value of our long-term debt would change by approximately $0.2 million.

ITEM 4. CONTROLS AND PROCEDURES

We conducted an evaluation, as of July 3, 2004, under the supervision and with the participation of our management, including our Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer (the Company's principal executive officer and principal financial officer, respectively) regarding the effectiveness of the design and operation of our disclosure controls and procedures as defined in Rule 13a-15 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the "Exchange Act"). Based upon that evaluation, the Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer concluded that our disclosure controls and procedures are effective to ensure that material information relating to the Company, including its consolidated subsidiaries, is made known to them by others within those entities.

There was no change in our internal control over financial reporting during the quarter ended July 3, 2004 that has materially affected, or is reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting.
